

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Materion Is One of USA TODAY America's Climate Leaders 2025
for Second Consecutive Year

Cleveland, OH - May 23, 2024 – Materion Corporation (NYSE: MTRN) has been named one of USA TODAY's America's Climate Leaders 2025. This award is presented by USA TODAY and Statista Inc., the world-leading statistics portal and industry ranking provider.

"Being named one of America's Climate Leaders for the second year in a row highlights Materion's commitment to sustainability and our proactive approach to environmental responsibility," said Jugal Vijayvargiya, President and CEO of Materion. "We will continue to focus on conserving energy, reducing emissions and implementing other sustainable approaches across our company."

Materion has implemented energy efficiency projects, waste reduction programs, and investments in renewable energy, to name just a few initiatives. These efforts not only contribute to addressing climate change, but also align with Materion's long-term business strategy to foster sustainable growth.

The America's Climate Leaders of 2025 award is based on a two-step process. First is the application and research phase. Companies that meet the criteria* can be included by applying online or by having the necessary data publicly available. The second step is the data analysis and scoring phase. For all companies meeting the inclusion criteria, the year-over-year reduction in emissions intensity (compound annual reduction rate) was calculated.
